Work Experience

In July 2006, Mr. Griller joined the National Center for State Courts. As the Director of Trial Court Leadership Programs, a newly created position, his responsibilities are split between educational programming and court consulting. Among his initial tasks is to develop a series of new, substantive management and leadership courses for trial court presiding judges, chief administrative officers, middle managers, and program professionals in general, limited and specialized courts. Much of this work will take place in coordination with the Center's widely acclaimed Institute for Court Management.
